Fire of undetermined origin caused a loss of approximately $5,000 in the Withers Apartment, corner of Highland and Leasure avenues, at midnight last night. The blaze was a spectacular one, and resulted in injuries to Fire Chief H. Clare Stockman and Fireman Jacob Kahrer of No. 2 department. The loss is covered by insurance.

Chief Stockman was struck on the shoulder by a falling drain pipe, and bruised while fighting the blaze on the third floor, while Fireman Kahrer was overcome by smoke, but his condition today is not serious. The fire seemed to have started under the roof and to have dropped down a clothes chute to a clothes press on the second floor, or to have started in the closet or clothes chute at the second floor, according to firemen.

Two Alarms Sounded
When Assistant Fire Chief James E. Thomas and firemen from Central and No. 2 departments arrived on the scene, they noticed the blaze at the bottom of the clothes chute in the basement and extinguished the fire at this point.

The fire had eaten its way up under the roof, however, and proved a stubborn one to fight, burning off the entire roof before it was extinguished. When the seriousness of the blaze was discovered, Assistant Chief Thomas turned in a second alarm, which was answered by (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

George Haine, R. D. 3, brought a beautiful cluster of Columbia black raspberries to The News office today. He picked these off the bushes on his farm, the second crop for the season.

One of the finest pieces of local landscaping and lawn care in the county is to be found at the East Brook high school plot. The lawn at this school is a picture that is most appealing.

Thanksgiving season is coming on. Pa New notes cranberries on sale around the city.

Motorists could use a little more care in parking on downtown streets at night, and make more room available for a lot more cars. On some streets drivers leave their cars parked so they are taking up room that should provide for two cars.

Since the abandonment of the street car line on the West Side it would be a fine thing if West Washington street from the bridge to the concrete paving near the school house was resurfaced.

Leaves are beginning to fall, as well as turn color. Wet leaves on streets make a traffic hazard of the first order, motorists should remember.

Boston Gang Steals $100,000 In Currency

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Sept. 28.—Three registered mail pouches containing $100,000 in currency were stolen today in a daring daylight robbery at the south station railroad terminal.

Three shabbily dressed and unarmed men picked up the three mail bags from a small electric truck, uttered no sound and fled to a waiting automobile. A fourth man was at the wheel of the car, parked at the unloading platform, which roared away as the trio clutching the mail sacks jumped in.

The robbery occurred just after the electric truck had left the station postoffice enroute to a railroad mail car.

One sack contained money and payrolls for Cape Cod, a second contained payrolls for Taunton manufacturing concerns, and the third sack contained 14 packages of money for Newport, R. I.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 28.—George "Machine Gun" Kelly has admitted taking part in the $200,000 abduction of Charles F. Urschel, millionaire oil man, and will be rushed to Oklahoma City late this week to stand trial, department of justice officials said today.

Plans were being completed today for removal of the desperado and his wife, Kathryn, to Oklahoma by airplane as a precaution against any possible attempts to free the machine gunner.

United States District Judge H. B. Anderson cleared the way for extradition of the pair when he signed a removal order at Jackson, Tenn., shortly before Kelly yielded under unceasing questioning here and confessed that he participated in the Urschel kidnaping.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 28.—Declaring the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case is one of "particular importance to the United States government, Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney general today asked the jury to convict all of the ten defendants now on trial charged with the $200,000 abduction of the Oklahoma City oil millionaire.

Keenan, here from Washington, D. C., as President Roosevelt's representative to aid the prosecution of Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates and eight other defendants, began his argument to the jury this morning with a ringing oration.

Must Protect Citizens.
Asserting that peaceful American citizens must be protected against the kidnaper and racketeer, Keenan asked the jury:

"Shall we have a government of law and order or shall we abdicate in favor of the reign of the machine gun gangsters?"

"These defendants," Keenan declared, turning to Bates and Bailey, the super-desperadoes, and the other defendants, "have jointly challenged the power of the government to protect its citizens."

Accepting full responsibility for attempting to blow the safe of the New Castle Wall Paper Company, Joseph Patterson, with a long criminal record, showed that the spark of manhood in him is not entirely dead at county court this morning, when he thanked Judges R. L. Hildebrand and James A. Chambers for dealing leniently with his accomplice, Arthur Ketez, 17, of Beaver county.

Addresses Court
After Patterson had been sentenced to serve from 5 to 10 years in the Western Penitentiary, he addressed the court, saying, "I wish to thank the court for placing this boy on probation. I got him into this trouble, and hope that he may turn out to be a good citizen, and never get into trouble again."

Ketez had been placed on probation for five years after he had told his story, and prominent Beaver county citizens, had informed the court that he had always been a good boy, and had never been in any trouble before.

Ketez was working in East Palestine, O. He told the court that he had become acquainted there with Patterson. On Labor Day, Patterson had suggested a robbery to him and induced him to come to New Castle along. Their arrest followed while they were in the act of blowing the safe.

Records read by Judge Hildebrand showed that Patterson had served (Continued On Page Two)

Two Ballot Boxes Opened By Judges

Return judges counting the ballots cast at the recent election, opened ballot boxes of the first precinct of the third ward and the third precinct of Slippery Rock, this morning. They found that slight discrepancies on the return sheets were caused by clerical errors and that the general results were not materially affected.

It had been planned to open other ballot boxes, but the judges got the matter straightened out without opening them. The ballots cast for the respective candidates have all been counted and tabulated, but the totals have not yet been secured. It is expected that they will be completed by tomorrow morning.

Considerable time was lost by the board, on account of names having been written in on ballots. All these names have to be written out, with the ballots cast.

Western Pennsylvania's bluminous coal "holiday" became all but 100 per cent effective today as Cambria county miners joined the walkout.

Only a few smaller mines scattered throughout the northern section of the soft coal region were still in production. Hardly 4,000 men are working in these operations.

Between 75,000 and 80,000 miners have joined the strike, as compared with 70,000 yesterday. The walkout has spread to approximately 450 mines.

A new note of complaint. Advanced by the strikers as the reason for their walkout, was voiced this morning as Cambria miners joined the rest of the soft coal belt in laying down their tools.

In this field, comprising Cambria and Somerset counties, miners in Cambria county voted to quit work until they find out whether they are to be paid the regular wage of the coal code or the Somerset differential last week but as yet undecided. The holiday started in Fayette (Continued On Page Two)

MIKRE SCHIST RESEMBLES GOLD

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—"I'm just as well satisfied. 'Maybe we'll get the oil tank in now.'"

With a philosophical shrug, Mrs. Nathan Garelik today calmly accepted the piteous out of the great Bronx gold rush.

The stampede to the Bronx gold fields, in the very back yard of the Gareliks, to fact, got under way when workmen digging a pit for a supply tank for the Garelik oil furnace encountered shining flakes of metal in the soil.

"We Got Gold." "We got gold, lady!" yelled the foreman of the gang and the rush was on. Amateur prospectors gathered rapidly and it looked like a long, cold winter for the Gareliks.

"Such a good luck," said the whole Bronx, half anxiously.

But came then E. G. Shields, chief assayer of the United States assay office.

He examined the yellow flakes. "Just mikre schist," said he calmly. "It's a form of isinglass that turns golden yellow from contact with iron in the earth."

The Gareliks expect the furnace to be on working schedule by the week-end.

East Brook Has Flower Show This Week At School

Flower Festival Sponsored By P. T. A.—Students Show Great Interest

One of the most successful flower, fruit and vegetable shows among the schools of the county was that of Tuesday evening when the East Brook Parent-Teacher association sponsored a flower festival in the East Brook school auditorium.

Throughout the evening parents and friends thronged to the auditorium and viewed the beautiful colored flowers, fresh fruits and vegetables which were artistically arranged on tables. The children had shown much ingenuity in arranging the display, taking various kinds of vegetables, combining them and fashioning all kinds of animals and characters. The display of the Garden club came in for a large share of attention also. The centerpiece, the work of Mrs. Johns, was especially pretty.

In the high school group the juniors were awarded first place. The first prize, for dahlias, went to Helen McConnell; the second, gladioli, to Martha Robinson; honorable mention, petunias, Prof. McCullough; novelty exhibit, Virginia Wallas.

The sophomores were awarded second place. The first prize, gladioli, went to Rob Waddington; the second, asters, also went to Rob Waddington; honorable mention, mar-

Prison Friendship Gets Man Million

(International News Service)
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 28.—A friendship with a fellow prisoner in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., resulted in a $1,000,000 estate for Charles Ward, former Seattle, Wash., mechanical engineer, here Wednesday.

As he assumed control of the estate and became president of the Brown and Bigelow Advertising firm here Wednesday, Ward revealed that it was this close friendship formed with H. H. Bigelow, St. Paul millionaire, while both were "doing time," that resulted in his present affluence.

Ward, serving a term for violation of the revenue law, was prison engineer. Bigelow, serving two years for income tax violation, was assigned as Ward's helper. They shared the same cell, pledged lifelong friendship.

As he assumed the presidency of his friend's firm Wednesday, Ward recalled the day nine years ago when, "H. H. asked me what job I wanted to have when I came out and I told him, 'I want your job.'"

"He laughed and said, 'You can have it if you can earn it. You're made of good clay, and I'm going to remould you the way you ought to be when we get out of here.'"

"Well, he did," Ward finished.

Bigelow was drowned two weeks ago on a fishing trip in Northern Minnesota.

Chief Stockman and additional departments.

Three lines of hose were laid to the fire, and after the blaze had eaten its way through the roof, the firemen were able to get at the seat of the blaze and quickly extinguish it. They fought it from the stairway inside during the interim, preventing its spread through the building, and confining the blaze to the attic under the roof and to the third floor almost entirely.

The type of construction on the roof made it more difficult to fight the fire, the roof being of the Mansard type, with little slope to it. There was only an entry-way through the ceiling into the attic, and firemen had to fight the blaze from the stairway. They did a splendid piece of work in preventing its spread throughout the building.

Building Unoccupied
Some furniture belonging to Mr. Withers and to his son-in-law, which was stored on the third floor, was destroyed, and considerable damage was done by water, although firemen used the reducer lines as much as possible after the blaze had been knocked down.

The structure, which was a three-story brick apartment building had originally been the home of the late Col. Cubison, but is now owned by R. T. Withers, who remodeled the old homestead and divided it into five apartments. It is unoccupied at the present time, work having been started on Monday toward remodeling the building and making more apartments.

According to James Gibson, son-in-law of Mr. Withers, the electric current in the building was turned off when the workmen left last evening, and the fire could not have been caused by crossed wires.

Thomas E. Boggs, operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, $100 fine and jail for thirty days from September 11.

John Krupa, involuntary manslaughter, connection with the death of William Preiser on the West Pittsburgh road, eight months to the Allegheny county workhouse.

Mines Are Closed
Mines of the Bethlehem Mines Corporation in Cambria county were closed by the operators to preclude any demonstrations. About 1,300 men worked in these pits.

Isolated Clearfield county mines remained unaffected as the roving bands of pickets from the southwestern coke region concentrated their attacks on the more important veins.

The Kramer Mine of the North-western Mining Exchange, a last large operation in Jefferson county—was idle today, 800 men having joined the walkout this morning.

Meanwhile, in Pittsburgh United Mine Workers officials redoubled their efforts to get the men back to work by Monday, the date the coal code becomes effective. They admitted faced almost impossible odds as the pickets' riding in autos, spread their activities into almost every mining community, locking operations down tight as they went.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up" all day.

If the bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Your skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up" all day. They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to flowing the bile freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Car Owner Arrested After An Accident

Elmer Danks Is Being Held By Police Pending An Investigation

Members of the police department shortly before two o'clock this morning, while seeking a man reported to have been involved in the robbing of an elderly man named McMichael from East Brook, made a trip south on South Mill street.

As the police car was passing the P. & L. E. crossing, they noticed a man walking along the street, but thought little about it. On reaching Taylor street, they found that a car had been wrecked there and had a wheel off and was otherwise damaged.

Suspecting that the man, whom they had seen was the driver of the machine, they made a speedy return up Mill street and saw their man in the vicinity of Grove street.

When the man saw the officers, he ran and was finally captured after quite a chase. He gave the name of Elmer Danks. He was found to have been the driver of the wrecked car. He was somewhat under the influence of liquor.

This morning the mayor directed that he be held twenty-four hours, pending a further investigation of the case.

According to the information secured by the police, Danks was driving north on Mill street, when his machine hit the rear left fender of a machine bearing Ohio license 716-025, which was parked in front of 709 South Mill street, damaging it.

The driver had then swerved his car into the middle of the street and then back again up over the curb and onto the north side. It continued along this sidewalk to Taylor street, when it hit a pole and a was broken off.

LEESBURG MINERS JOIN COAL HOLIDAY
morning, when the situation will be discussed.

Little is known as to the cause of the "holiday" but miners of the district say that the holiday is in line with those at other mines in Western Pennsylvania, following in the wake of the mine holiday that started at the H. C. Frick Company two weeks ago, and recognition of the union.

The Sharon Coal and Limestone Company is a subsidiary of the U. S. Steel corporation.

The mines are closed today, no attempt being made to operate them. Following the visit of the pickets, the caravan moved off to Venango county, the miners report.

SHORTAGE OF FOOD ACUTE AT TAMPICO

firing squads, bringing the number of persons thus executed to 10.

One "conservative" estimate listed the damage done to Tampico by the hurricane at more than $10,000,000. This evidently did not include damage caused in other sections by the storm.

As far as can be ascertained, no foreigners were killed by the hurricane or the floods that followed. The combined forces of wind and water destroyed or damaged almost every house in the city.

As a result of cooperation of military authorities, lighting has been restored in part of the city, but sanitary conditions, according to authorities, are "dangerous."

PERMITS ISSUED
Street excavation permits have been granted by the city engineer to the M. L. & H. Company to install a service line to the property of Morris Rizika, 211 Glenmore boulevard and to H. E. Stevenson to make sewer line repairs at the property of Mrs. Galbraith, 206 Leasure avenue.

MATRIMONY SERIOUS BUSINESS

HOW serious is matrimony? All around are evidences that the vast majority of men and women regard it with traditional gravity. Whatever disappointments have come to one or the other party to the connubial partnership, they usually are concealed and so far as surface indications go all is serene in the average home.

An overruling sense of duty it may be that prevents the dissolution of many matrimonial bonds, causing wife or husband to endure the almost unbearable. Other less respectable reasons may impel one to tolerate a galling condition. But the common impression given is that matrimony is regarded seriously.

It is well so, as may be concluded after reflection upon some of the conspicuous failures brought forth in the news. Yet we wonder when the seriousness of matrimony takes hold of a lot of people. Obviously in all too many instances it is not within the period of courtship when there is still time to avoid error.

If only after the wedding wife or husband begins to learn about the other that which should have been ascertained before a matrimonial shipwreck is almost certain to ensue. How very serious matrimony is appears from whatever angle the subject is examined. No special warning should be needed to impress this truth on any.

HURRICANE RAZES TAMPICO

The hurricane which moved down Tampico is called the worst disaster in Mexican history. Few persons who have never experienced a hurricane on land realize what a terrible thing it can be.

In addition to the mad torrents of waters overflowing creeks and rivers is the work of destruction in the air. Flying missiles and debris are hurled wantonly about by winds with a velocity in excess of a hundred miles an hour. Despair cuts off the ordinary means of safety. Escape to an underground shelter may mean drowning in the flood; flight to towers or uplands may mean exposure to the barrage of timbers and rocks.

A closely built-up city is vulnerable to these attacks. Loss of life and destruction of property have been exceedingly severe in Tampico. Even with the passing of the storm's fury, the aftermath is likely to be critical, since the normal supplies of drinking water, fuel and means of communication have been demolished. Disease and looting follow. Airplanes are hampered in the work of succor because water covers the landing fields and other forms of transport are impossible save perhaps by boat. With wires felled the only method of reaching the outside world is by improvised facilities for radio broadcasting. Martial law becomes inevitable.

The greatest havoc to dwellings was wrought in sections where adobe and stucco houses prevail. Buildings of the better type successfully resisted the force of high winds. The same experience is commonly reported in areas stricken by earthquake. The coincidence is significant. Earthquake and hurricane both assail the Caribbean region and the Gulf. The circumstances suggest that the defenses against each may be of similar character. Whether there is a relation between the Mexican hurricane and the seismic disturbances which have just visited Italy, Japan and Alaska is a matter for scientists to discuss. Meanwhile relief for the sufferers must be organized.

THE LINDBERGH'S AGAIN

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, having completed their historic airplane flight into the northlands and crossed to Europe, set their ship down in Moscow a day or so ago and received a rousing welcome from the Russians.

News of their latest flight has been breaking into print quite frequently, yet other and more sensational domestic developments have taken much of the public interest from it. But the fact remains that here is an airplane flight of vast importance; the Colonel will bring back with him charts and maps, along with statistics, which should prove of great benefit to long-distance airship travel.

However, it appears to us that the Russian welcome angle of the trip has another significance that cannot be overlooked.

Two Soviet planes escorted the Lindbergh Trans-Atlantic hydroplane into Moscow, official greetings were given the distinguished couple by civil aviation authorities and a banquet and theatre party in their honor were held later in the evening.

And the populace was enthusiastic in its greetings for the Colonel and his wife.

All these factors seem to us to be of considerable significance in the matter of relations between the United States and Soviet governments. The Lindberghs are in "good standing" in nearly any country they might care to visit, and their good-will achievements for this country in other sections have been of great value.

They probably will do at least some good along similar lines in the Soviet territory, where they plan spending several days.

But never yet has a Moses saved a people that sat with folded hands and waited to be saved.

What a world! Without people it would be too lonely; yet all of its woe is caused by people.

It isn't hard to tell "quality folks." You can treat them as equals without incurring impudence.

Yet the only free people are those so unimportant that nobody knows or cares what they do.

All Of Us

BY MARSHALL MASLIN

YOU ARE GOOD

YOU ARE GOOD.
You say to yourself, "I'm weak. I'm mean. I'm selfish, envious, jealous, cruel, bad-tempered, foolish, unstable, arrogant, hypocritical and bad."

But you know that essentially you deserve none of these adjectives. Perhaps you do at times when you have failed, when you have forgotten your real self and done what you know you shouldn't have done. But in your heart you are trying, always, to do the right thing. Trying to be strong, brave, selfish, honest, decent, fair-minded, wise, dependable, frank and good.

You wouldn't admit this in public, to be sure. You'd feel silly standing up before a crowd and saying, "I'm trying to be a good man!" You'd not even say it to a friend unless he said it first and you trusted him utterly. Somehow most of us have been spoiled and we pretend to be the best while we are trying to be the best. We pose as sly devils, hardboiled eggs, tough guys—but we are not.

We want people to like us. We want to deserve that liking. But, instead, we act tough. Nevertheless, despite all we can do the good seeds breaking through. Life surprises our pretense, strips off the masks, shakes us into reality when we least expect it, forces us to confess our simple, fundamental desire to be GOOD.

And you are good, too. I can see it in your eyes. I can see it when you think no one is looking at you. I know you are good. Your pretense is feeble. Your acting is false and amateurish. Anybody can see what you are like beneath that swaggering, cynical exterior. You are good and nothing you do can convince me otherwise. Anger me, annoy me, insult me, deny what I saw a hundred times a year, but still I insist that you are good. . . . And you know, deep in your heart, that I'm telling the truth. You'll never admit it, but I know it's a fact. . . . You ARE good!

SHARING

We who have wept together know what it means to love.

We who have suffered sorrow, have known roses a mound above.

And knelt on the ground together to whisper a common prayer.

With trembling lips and hearts aching know what it means to share.

Time was when we danced together and laughed as the days went by.

Month after month we romped through with never a tear in her eye.

We fancied we loved each other, but little of love we knew.

And I was a jesting comrade with only my work to do.

Then suddenly sorrow found us. Out there by a tiny grave

We learned what it means to be tender and just what it means to love.

We learned that love deepens and strengthens by hurts it is asked to bear.

And out of our common heartache we learned what it means to share.

"Hints & Dints" Editor, New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

This is a true story that came to me from Mrs. Lee Pollard of Richmond. It was expressed in the same terms and words as I used but the plot was the same.

It seems that a lady driving a car with a Pennsylvania license was riding down Broad street, the main street of Richmond, Va., a few days ago when for some reason or other it became necessary to stop rather suddenly in the middle of the street. A gentleman driving a Richmond car behind her did not stop quite as quickly, resulting in a rolled up rear fender for the lady and a complete collapse of one of the front fenders on the Richmond car.

The gentleman stormed and raged with the lady for not signaling for a stop with her hand. Of course being a woman she could not allow him to do all the talking so she declared, in a none too gentle voice, that she did put her hand out.

The argument started and it waxed hot and heavy. In fact, both parties became so belligerent that an officer standing on the corner decided that for the sake of the peace of the community he had better take a hand.

He walked up to settled the dispute and when the lady saw him she exclaimed, "I'll leave it up to the policeman," and turning to him with a beaming smile she said, "Captain, didn't I put out my hand for a stop?" The policeman, finding himself in the midst of the battle, decided to stay neutral so he retreated with the statement, "Really, lady, I could not say. You see, I was looking the other way and did not see it happen."

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned." How true this is, for with fire in her eyes she glared at the officer and replied, "No, you are just like all the rest of these southerners. You never see anything that you are supposed to see, but if I had stuck out my leg the whole d—m town would have seen it."

Sincerely,

GEORGE LOUDON.

MEASUREMENTS When boys and girls begin to learn their "Weights and Measures" system, they usually find the measures of length and breadth the most puzzling. It is easy to remember that twelve inches make one foot, and that three feet make one yard, but after that the table is not so easy.

Why should 3 1/2 yards be called a "pole," and why should it require such a curious number as 220 yards to make a furlong?

These are some of the questions you ask yourselves as you puzzle over these awkward measurements. To find their origin you have to go back to the days when ploughing was done by oxen. It was found that 220 yards was as far as an ox could draw a plough without resting. Usually eight oxen were harnessed to the plough, and the man in charge had a long pole which he strung up any of the oxen which were lazy.

This pole was 5 1/2 yards long, and the ploughman used it for another purpose—to measure the width of the land he ought to plough in a day.

It was found that he could reasonably manage a piece of land which was 220 yards long (a furlong) and four poles wide.

Multiply that up, and you will see that four poles is 22 yards, and that 22 times 220 yards gives you 4,840 square yards, which is an acre. Whenever you speak of an acre in future, think of it as one day's work with a plough.

Success Of Excursion Rates Seen As Cause Of Fare Cuts

Chicago Exposition Has Helped To Demonstrate Wisdom Of Reduction To Be Recommended By Railroad Corporations

Action of railroads in deciding to recommend reductions in passenger fares is believed by the public to have its inspiration in the success of the special rates offered for travelers to the Chicago Exposition and in the increased traffic created by week-end excursions to various cities. The reduction proposed is from 3.6 cents a mile to two cents a mile for round trips and three cents for one-way fares. Western and Southern roads have tried out reductions, and now the Eastern roads have fallen into line.

Presidents of the Eastern railroads—the Pennsylvania, New York Central and New Haven among them—says the SCRANTON TIMES, "have admitted that reduction of fares is an effective way of bringing back business." That paper adds: "Having at last come to a common sense acknowledgment of what is ailing the passenger business of the railroads perhaps now we can expect the carriers to meet truck competition by reducing freight rates and installing certain services which have served to make delivery of freight by truck advantageous and convenient for consignors and consignees."

"This is not sheer altruism," remarks BALTIMORE EVENING SUN. "The railroads have simply decided, after a good deal of experimenting in the South and West, that this is the way to save their passengers from the raids of the busses and airplanes. Low fares, tried out on Southern and Western roads, have brought back a rush of business, and exceedingly low special rates to the Chicago fair have also worked well. So now the experiment is to be extended to the main lines in the East. The project seems reasonable. In most lines of business if your competitor offers the same service at a lower rate, you assume as a matter of course that you must either improve your own service, or meet his rates."

"The railroads are fighting for their lives, and many of them have their backs to the wall," declares the PEORIA STAR. "The automobile has all but put them out of business. It has cramped their passenger business, and there is a reduction of nothing left of it, and the short haul freight business too is being handed over rapidly to motor trucks. The slash in passenger rates can only be construed as an attempt to compete with the automobile. Many rail officials believe that rates if cut sufficiently will cause a return of much of the lost passenger business."

Speaking of some of the advantages of rail traffic, the BROOKLYN EAGLE points out that, "as the roads lower the cost of passenger tickets, at the same time increasing the speed and comfort of their trains, they recover thousands of travelers, who, in the past years, have been diverted toward other forms of transportation." That paper recognizes that "special rates to the Chicago fair have played a part in the stimulation of business," and is convinced that "the greatest single factor has been a reduction of the regular charges for one-day and week-end tickets." The Eagle records that the Louisville and Nashville was a pioneer in the movement, and that "the experiment has been so profitable that the railroad has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to make the rates permanent."

"The Southern Railway," according to the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER, "took the lead in giving the public benefit of cheap fares and with such success that other railroads are moving to follow. Anticipation is that the Interstate Commerce Commission will prove friendly to the move and will authorize reduced fares for all railroad lines to become effective December 1. In deciding to let the railroads have their own way in the matter of providing cheaper fares, the Interstate Commerce Commission is acting the part of wisdom. Experience has proved that the railroad managers know more about running railroads than the Commission does. The Southern lead in the direction of cheaper fares was at first opposed by many of the roads, but all are now coming to conclusion that the Southern was moving in the direction of railroad salvation."

"Desperation may save the railroads in spite of themselves," in the opinion of the PHILADELPHIA RECORD, which adds that "if price is right, speed and service will win trade, but if prices are high, depression passengers will forego speed and service." The CHICAGO DAILY NEWS avers that "the volume of business done by Eastern and Western railroads in bringing visitors to 'A Century of Progress' at special excursion rates indicates that much of the old popularity of railroad passenger travel can be regained if the charges are reasonable."

The NEW YORK TIMES advises that "once the carriers break loose from the spirit of defeatism, they are likely to find that not all the advantages are with the automobile and the bus." The Times argues that "trains over moderately long distances are much more comfortable than road vehicles," that "they are quicker, one can read books and newspapers on the trains, and they are not bothered by snow or rain."

Motorists

National Recovery Act is improving working and living conditions and the department of revenue, bureau of motor vehicles also has a "N. R. A." campaign under way.

The department's "N. R. A." however, means "Now Reduce Accidents," and when the tag is displayed on an automobile it shows the driver is doing his part toward eliminating auto accidents which are a social and economic problem.

When a State Highway patrolman hands a yellow ticket to a driver it does not mean the driver is arrested. It is a greeting and also a request that the driver help the campaign.

The department asks that the driver keep his eyes on the road, requests that safety and warning signs be observed and obeyed and that no one should exceed the speed limit.

Patrolmen stationed here are distributing the yellow tickets to motorists.

Plenty Of Eggs For Prisoners

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., Sept. 28.—Inmates of the Northeastern Penitentiary here like their "aigs" and want plenty of them.

This was revealed when the Fairmount Creamery of Scranton was awarded the contract for furnishing 18,000 dozen storage eggs to the federal institution. The bid was 23½ cents per dozen.

It seems that the best way to save Barnegat Light would be to move it 10 or 15 miles inland.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

sions in convincing the railroad managers of the need of lower rates is attested by the HARTFORD TIMES and the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN, while the needs of passengers are set forth by the ASBURY PARK PRESS in the statement: "Incidental items are also worthy of consideration in any effort to increase the railroad's passenger business. Clean cars, with clean windows so that the passenger can see through them and clean seats so that he does not require a tailor upon detraining, are important to encourage travelers to use the railroads. An even temperature, free of the rapid temperature changes now felt on most trains, is necessary to the comfort of the passenger. In fact, the lack of minor comforts and convenience is one of the chief reasons why the railroads do not attract travelers who are now using automobiles or buses."

"A cheery note" is observed by the PORTLAND OREGON JOURNAL in the record of railroad improvement in the past few months, and it contends that "railroad traffic is a barometer of business and industry."

PENNSYLVANIANS GIVE GOOD REASONS FOR SENSATIONAL SWING TO NEW FORD V-8

HERE'S THE REASON: The New Ford's quiet, smooth engine is made even more vibration-free by a unique 3-point rubber suspension mounting. It gives a full 75 horsepower; 80 miles an hour—hour after hour.

HERE'S THE REASON: Seats are wider, roomier, deeper. Rubber chassis cushioning, deep resilient seat springs—automatic ride control shock absorbers—like those of the Lincoln—make the New Ford V-8 smooth riding.

HERE'S THE REASON: Official tests in eleven different states show that the New Ford V-8 gives 18½ to 22½ miles on a gallon of gasoline. Many owners report even greater mileage.

HERE'S THE REASON: Graceful streamlines form a beautiful unit of modern design. Bonderized fenders will not rust. Ford All-Steel bodies have no wood to warp or decay. Ford beauty is permanent.

Roosevelt Will Direct Purchase
Of Rail Equipment

Will Ask Railway Equipment Manufacturers To Bid For Big Order
Many Railroads Are In Need
Of New Equipment; Order
Will Involve Millions

(International News Service)
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 28.—
President Roosevelt ordered a study made with a view to facilitating the purchase of rolling stock and equipment by railroads of the nation before he left Washington to come here.

The executive revealed today that while the plan is still in a formative state, railway coordinator Joseph Eastman is looking into the project, and that if it is found to be feasible the same method used in the steel rail purchasing plan will be used. In the case of rails, Mr.
Roosevelt called railway officials into his office first, and ascertained how many tons of rails they could use. Then he called the steel people in, and told them he wanted prices cut to where profits were shaved thinly.

Huge Amount Involved
Under the proposed plan for bringing about the purchase of rolling stock and other equipment, the money would come out of the public works fund, and the railroads would give the government ten year notes, bearing no interest the first year and 4 percent thereafter.

This plan, as well as the rail purchasing program consummated several days ago when the principal steel manufacturing concerns agreed to bid for an order of between 600-000 and 700,000 tons, is regarded as another phase of the president's credit expansion and finance program. The latter was a counter to demands for direct inflation.

Mr. Roosevelt is not yet certain just how much money would be involved in the proposed railway equipment plan, but indicated that it would be considerable. In the case of the rail purchases the total will be about $20,000,000.

An effort will be made to have the manufacturers of railway equipment cut prices to the bone in connection with this program, just as was done in the case of rails. The executive said sometime before the rail purchase plan was completed that rails were too high, and succeeded in getting the steel people to agree to reduce them somewhat in view of the large order involved.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Hubaker, formerly of Beaver and now of Roswell, N. M., and Mrs. Christianson of Beaver, have concluded a visit here avenue and Mrs. Harry Glitch of Americans And

Order Prevails And Condi-

Sugar Mills In Cuba

OVER THOUSAND
OUT ON STRIKE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Sept. 28.—Thirty Americans and Britons, including five women, today reported that order prevailed and conditions were safe at the Hershey Sugar Mills, where 1,200 employees are on strike.

This report was received by Gram-ham Granger, manager of the American-owned mills.

Stories Resented

Graham expressed resentment at alarmist stories published in the United States declaring foreigners at the mills were in danger.

American warships kept in close touch with the situation, although the Cuban army announced itself ready to protect American and British citizens at the mills.

Other parts of Cuba and the city of Havana were quiet.

Hopes were expressed that a political compromise between the government and opposition elements could be reached with resumption of conferences between President
Grau San Martin and opposition leaders. Students continued their talks with members of the A. B. C.

Some settlement giving the president wider political support appeared likely, although no one was willing to predict it as a certainty.

Suit For $25,000
For Auto Injuries

Lawrence M. Clark Files Action
At Court House Against
R. S. Cunningham

Lawrence M. Clark has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Robert S. Cunningham, in which he asks $25,000 damages for injuries received in an auto accident near the Cascade park entrance on March 27, 1933.

Clark was acting as a flagman for the state highway department during some repairs that were being made. Corporal Lawton, on a motorcycle, had been stopped, when Cunningham is alleged to have driven his automobile into the motorcycle, which was knocked against Clark. One leg was broken and he was otherwise injured.

It is alleged that Cunningham's eyesight was bad and that he disregarded the red flags which had been put out to warn motorists.

City Solicitor Gives Opinion On Measure Regulating Business

Solicitor Robert White has presented to Mayor Mayne, members of council and Police Chief Haven an opinion with reference to the enforcement of an ordinance recently passed regulating doing of business in the city.

The operation of the ordinance may be divided into two parts, he states, because there are two general classes of business that have seemed to necessitate police regulation for a long time.

One classification refers to persons who begin to do business here at a definite location. The other covers persons who solicit orders, exhibiting goods or transacting any other business with inhabitants.

His opinion, in full, follows:
September 27, 1933.
The Hon. Mayor and Council of the City of New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—
Some time ago you asked me for an opinion with reference to the enforcement of an ordinance recently passed regulating the doing of business in the city of New Castle, and I am submitting such an opinion herewith.

The operation of this ordinance may be divided generally into two parts, because there are two general classifications for business that have seemed to necessitate police regulation for a long time.

The first classification covers all persons who begin to do business in the city of New Castle at a certain definite location. This class embraces all people who rent or own a storeroom or an outbuilding or a vacant lot or any other place and start to do business in it, and it also embraces those people who start some business in their home. To come within this classification under the act it is only necessary that the person be starting to do some kind of business in a new place, i. e., in a place where he has not done business before, so, where a man has a place of business and puts in a new line or starts to do some other kind of business there, he would not be within the requirements of the ordinance.

The second classification covers all persons who go about from door to door in the city soliciting orders, exhibiting goods or transacting any other business or affair with the residents or inhabitants of the city. This clause means just what it says, but it must necessarily have certain restrictions, as follows:

1. It can not apply to persons taking orders in trade, i. e., to the ordinary commercial travelers who go to places of business to take wholesale orders for goods.

2. It can not apply to any person doing business with merchants in New Castle at those persons' places of business and in the regular course of their business. For example, if John Doe conducts a garage in the city of New Castle, any person who goes into his garage to do any business that is in any way connected with the garage business need not be licensed; but any one who goes in there to sell candy or popcorn or medicine or anything that has nothing to do with the garage business must have a license.

3. The ordinance does not apply to any one who goes to transact business at any place where he has been invited to go or is under contract to go; but this exception would not apply to any person who advertised in the city of New Castle that he had wares or merchandise for sale, and thereby obtained an invitation to exhibit his wares. In that case the first solicitation is by vendor and he must have a license. For example, if some woman writes to a firm in Chicago and tells them that she is interested in their produce and in response to that letter they send an agent to see her in New Castle, that agent does not need a license; but if some person puts an ad in the paper or otherwise advertises in this community that he is selling used automobiles or any other product at a certain place and price and thereby procures some person to inquire of him where the used automobiles or other merchandise may be seen, and he then goes to see them, he must have a license. If a wholesale bakery in Youngstown makes a contract with a local merchant to furnish him bread every day according to his requirements, then the bakery may send its agent into the store each day to find out how much is needed; but in those cases there should be a bona fide contract in order to avoid the necessity for getting a license.

The whole idea of this classification and its regulation is to prevent dishonest people from going about in the city of New Castle without first having established to the satisfaction of the chief of police that they are fit persons to be admitted to homes or other places in the city. Thus I have disposed of the classifications covered by section 1 of the ordinance.

Section 2 of the ordinance provides how the people shall register, and there has been provided a certain application blank which everybody should be required to fill out and file with the chief of police, and if the chief of police has any doubt as to the character of the people who apply for registration, he may require them to give him their fingerprints and their photograph; and he may refuse registration until he can send those fingerprints and photograph to the proper authorities to determine whether or not the applicant has any criminal record. When a man comes to the chief of police to register, the chief can give him a blank form for application and require that he fill it out and return it; and if the chief of police has any doubt as to the right of the man to be registered, he can send the application to the city solicitor for investigation and an opinion. The ordinance provides that the application shall be sworn to before the city clerk, but the chief of police may waive this requirement. It must be kept in mind that section 2 requires the same registration from both classes of business, i. e., when a man starts in a new place of business or when a man desires to go from door to door, he must fill out an application blank.

Section 3 applies only to those persons who go from door to door and provides for identification card so that a man presenting himself at anyone's door may be asked for the card, and if he doesn't have it the police may be notified. The chief of police may, if he desires, require that a photograph be attached to the card. This would only be necessary if persons were undertaking to use cards issued to some other person.

Section 4 provides that people in the classification to which I have referred that are starting a business in a fixed location must, before they are permitted to register, file with the city solicitor a bond in the sum of $500 to guarantee that they will pay the taxes that may accrue against them. All the chief of police needs to do is to see that the bond is furnished. After the bond has been furnished it is up to the city solicitor's office to see that the provisions of the bonds are kept and the license taxes paid, although the city solicitor would, of course, be glad to have the chief of police assist him in enforcing that provision of the ordinance.

In the exceptions to the ordinance which I have stated above, I have not included those persons who do business in interstate commerce because I am convinced that the city, as a part of its police power, has a right to require everybody, including those who are doing business in interstate commerce, to establish to the satisfaction of the police that they are honest and lawabiding people before they will be permitted to go about from door to door transacting their business even though it is interstate commerce. If, however, any person comes within any of the exceptions which I have noted, the fact that he is doing business in interstate commerce will not take him out of the exception. I mean by this that if a man goes into Love & McGown's drug store to take orders for drugs, he does not have to have a license, and it makes no difference whether he comes from Pittsburgh or Youngstown; but if he goes in there to sell life insurance without having established a place of business in New Castle, he must have a license whether he comes from Pittsburgh or Youngstown.

In the case that brought this matter to your attention, it seems to me that the parties were not required to have a license or to register because they came clearly within the exceptions to the ordinance, doing business in New Castle only with undertakers at the regular place of business of those undertakers and doing a business that was directly associated with the business of the persons with whom they were dealing.

The city of New Castle may not tax interstate commerce but it may require that persons doing interstate commerce be honest and deal legally and uprightly. The act of May 17, 1883, P. L. 31, provides that commercial travelers can not be licensed or taxed, and as I have heretofore said, I do not believe that commercial travelers need even register because they are doing business with certain classes of merchants.

This ordinance, if strictly and carefully enforced, will drive out of the city all dishonest and deceiving merchants and peddlers and will prove an effective protection to local merchants.

Respectfully submitted,
ROBERT WHITE,
City Solicitor.

Treasury Will Discuss Debts

President Roosevelt Decides To Let Treasury Department Take Up Debt Issue

DEAN ACHESON TO HAVE CHARGE

(Copyright, 1933, By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt has decided to have the treasury, rather than the state department, handle the preliminary debt conversations with Great Britain and the other non-defaulting debtor nations which are seeking drastic reduction of the debts owed this country, International News Service learned yesterday.

Dean Acheson, undersecretary of the treasury, probably will be in charge of the debt conversation.

Decision Made

The decision to have the treasury conduct the debt discussion was reached by Mr. Roosevelt shortly before he left for New York yesterday. The debt revision parade of the non-defaulting nations is due to commence October 5th when the British will start their movement for readjustment of the total debts, amounting to approximately $4,000,000,000 which that country owes the United States.

was learned almost simultaneously with the departure from London of the British financial experts who are coming here.

The president has been undecided since the resignation of Raymond Moley, his assistant secretary of state and chief economic adviser, as to whether the state or treasury department should handle the preliminary conversations. It was felt that treasury experts would have to be called in in any event and President Roosevelt finally decided to let the treasury handle the conversations entirely.

Yom Kippur Will Be Observed Friday

Temple Israel Will Have Observance Of Day Of Atonement At Three Services

Temple Israel, Highland and Moody avenue, will begin its observance of the day of atonement (Yom Kippur) with the intoning of the Kol Nidre on Friday evening, Sept. 29, at 7:30 o'clock promptly. All worshippers are asked to be in their seats before 7:30, as no one will have access to his seat until the Kol Nidre is over. The topic of the sermon will be: "Religion and the NRA".

The Saturday service for Yom Kippur will begin at 9:30 a. m. and will continue until 5:45 p. m. without intermission. The topic of the sermon for Saturday will be "How Much Do You Mean?"

The memorial service will take place Saturday afternoon at three p. m. and all worshippers are asked to be in their seats before that hour. Those desiring to have the names of their dear departed called out during this service are asked to hand in the memorial slips, properly and legibly filled out, without delay to the rabbi's office.

The flowers that will adorn the pulpit on Yom Kippur have been offered by Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger in loving memory of their dear ones who have gone to the Great Beyond.

Yom Kippur—The Day of Atonement

The twilight of Friday, Sept. 29th, 1933, will mark the beginning of the most sacred day in the Jewish calendar, Yom Kippur, the day of atonement. In Jewish life this holy day is also known as the "Sabbath of Sabbaths" and the "Great White Fast". Unlike the observance of any other Jewish holiday, the day of atonement is marked by the unique feature of fasting which begins with the chanting of the Kol Nidre melody and ends with sunset of the following day.

Yom Kippur is ordained in the Bible (Levit. XXIII-27) to be observed on the 10th day of the seventh month, Tishri, which coincides this year with Saturday, Sept. 30th. It is a day of rest, of fasting, of prayer, of penitence and spiritual quickening. Its principal and immediate purpose is to arouse the consciousness of sin and to stimulate the desire for atonement and for reconciliation with God.

The Hebrew word for repentance is teshubah, which means literally "return". The concept of sin is that the sinner has strayed from the straight path of righteousness, has transgressed its boundaries, and his repentance is not complete until he has returned from his transgression to the true way of life. Confession, contrition and reconciliation with man and God are the elements of a proper repentance which is no more spasmodic or monetary emotion, but a genuine return to the road of duty, unselfishness and loyalty.

Like all other Jewish holidays, Yom Kippur has undergone a change both in its meaning and manner of observance. In the days of the temple when the Jews dwelt in Palestine as tillers of the soil, the Day of Atonement was chiefly characterized by sacrificial rites, as specified in Leviticus XVI. Both priests and people abstained from food and drink, uttered confessions of their sins and invoked the God of Mercy for forgiveness. The most stirring moment of the day came when, all alone, the high priest entered the holy of holies and there uttered a short prayer.

But later, when the Jews were exiled from Palestine and the temple ceased to be the central institution in Israel, the day of atonement assumed a new aspect. Sacrifices were no more; in their stead prayer and meditation were substituted. The rabbis of old endowed Yom Kippur with a devout religious atmosphere. They considered this day as the day when the Supreme Judge of all set His seal to the fate of every creature on earth. Therefore, they emphasized with great stress the necessity of fasting and prayer.

The day is very highly regarded among the Jewish people and is practically universally and unambiguously observed. Places of business, offices and factories are closed and synagogues are thronged with worshippers. As with Sabbath and all Jewish holidays, the day is observed from evening to evening.

The service beginning on the eve of the day and on the day itself is continued the whole day. The day has a most wholesome and spiritualizing influence. Its appeal does not rest upon any historical incident. It is not a commemoration, but a direct appeal to the human heart and conscience, an emphasis upon the duty of personal communion with God, the source of all righteousness, in the effort to make our human life as godlike as possible. The promise of pardon is ever present in the ritual of the day, and the divine forgiveness is assured to those whose repentance is honest, and whose "return" is complete.

Appeals Are Taken To Supreme Court

Papers Ready To Go Up In Martha Trimble And Smith-Faris Cases

Papers in appeals to the supreme court in two cases that have been tried in local courts have been prepared by Prothonotary R. M. Campbell. The supreme court convenes in Pittsburgh next week.

The first case is that of Martha Trimble against the Mennel Milling Company of Toledo, O. This is a case in which the jury awarded Mrs. Trimble $13,250, for the death of her husband, John M. Trimble, as a result of an auto accident.

The accident happened between Meadville and Greenville, when a car in which Mr. Trimble was riding with his son, Kenneth Trimble, was struck by a car being driven by L. S. Reed, of the Milling Company. It was claimed that the road was wet at the time and that the Reed car veered across the center line of the road, causing the accident.

The other case appealed is that of the Smith-Farris Company against the Jameson Memorial hospital and the R. T. Withers Company. It grew out of a controversy over work done by the Withers Company at the hospital and there was a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $5,577.34. Subsequently the verdict against the hospital and Withers was set aside, and the Smith-Farris Company then carried the case to the higher court.

Ford Company Officials Keep Chester Plant Closed

PAY WINDOWS ARE KEPT OPEN

(International News Service)

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 28.—National Labor Board effort to settle the strike of 4,000 workers at the Chester plant of the Ford Motor Company were blocked today as Ford officials kept the plant closed.

About 1200 strikers formed a cavalcade of 200 automobiles early this morning and struck out for Edgewater, N. J., in an effort to extend the strike to the Edgewater plant of the Ford Company.

J. F. Dewey, department of labor conciliator from Washington placed the situation before Sen. Robert F. Wagner of New York, chairman of the National Labor Board, by telephone. Dewey promised the strikers he would attempt to persuade Senator Wagner to interview Henry Ford personally.

Within 24 hours after you begin to take ALLENRU for rheumatic pains, backache, neuritis or lumbago the excess uric acid starts to leave your body—in 48 hours the terrible agony is gone—that's why Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., and leading druggists everywhere sell it for rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and neuritis. "CELEBRATING SIX PLEASANT YEARS OF BUSINESS IN NEW CASTLE"

Federal Government Waging Great Drive Against Criminals

Good Start Made By Government In Rounding Up Bailey And Kelly Noted Kidnapers

Try To Connect Kelly, Bailey, Bates And Miller With Kansas City Massacre

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Dramatically concluding the roundup of the Urschel kidnapers with the arrest of George "Machine Gun" Kelly and his wife, Rose Shannon Kelly, the justice department Wednesday turned its major attention to the Kansas City massacre of last June when five were slain.

Three of the suspected Kansas City slayers are still at large. One of them is Verne C. Miller, a bandit with a long criminal record, regarded by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the division of investigation, as the most demoralized criminal at large today.

Miller Dangerous "I regard Miller as a more dangerous man than Harvey Bailey, who wielded the machine gun in the Kansas City slaying," Hoover said. "Miller will shoot on sight at the slightest provocation. He virtually is a maniac."

Wilbur Underhill and Richard T. Galatas are also sought. Both of these men who have operated chiefly in the middle west have notorious records. All three have served penitentiary terms for various offenses.

Expectations Convictions Bailey, along with Kelly, one of the "big shot" criminals who have been arrested in the last few months in the justice department's far reaching campaign, is now on trial at Oklahoma City, as one of ten persons charged with the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire.

Five Men Slain Opening fire with machine guns,

Nash, a department of justice agent, an Oklahoma chief of police and two policemen were killed. Two justice department agents were wounded. The killers escaped but since that time most members of the gang have been identified. Government agents are on their trails.

There is some question whether "Machine Gun" Kelly was at Kansas City. He was said by Hoover to be a member of the Bailey gang and efforts now are being made to determine his participation.

The federal authorities on October 3, will participate in the prosecution of a deputy sheriff and another man who permitted Bailey to escape from jail at Dallas Texas, Hoover said.

Bailey was captured at Paradise, Texas, when federal officers had discovered his hangout with R. G. Shannon and others of the Urschel kidnapers through operations in airplanes. At the Dallas jail, Hoover said, he had been furnished with a gun, saws and a wrench enabling him to escape. Bailey, however, was picked up shortly afterwards.

"The successful operations against kidnapers and killers in the last few months should have an excellent psychological effect on other forms of crime and aid in the general campaign that will shortly be put under way by the government," Hoover said.

SCOUTING PLANS DRAWN AT RALLY OF LEADERS HERE

Enthusiastic Session Occurs On Wednesday Night; Problems Talked

A large and enthusiastic group of New Castle district scout leaders met last night in the Chamber of Commerce for their regular monthly session and when they adjourned, enough work had been planned for to cause coming headaches among several committees appointed to handle certain projects. President Sid Smith presided, and one after another a number of important matters were brought up and passed on or disposed of.

Will Launch Courses The men were all keen for a number of training courses being planned, and two courses were given somewhat definite dates, a map-making course to start on October 13, and a Part I "Elements of Scout-mastership" to start early on a November week end. The big "Standard" course, calling for a 24-lecture series, is being planned in conjunction with Mercer county council, and it is hoped that sessions may be held in Westminster college, as this would help the course, and give the college some standing in the National Council department of education reports.

The proposed Red Cross lifesaving corps checkup on October 10-11 has been postponed locally, and it is not known just when a Red Cross field representative will be present in the county.

New Castle's part in the Armistice Day celebration was discussed by Jack Wilson, and the scout participation explained. So many scouts are in school bands that it is not known just what showing troops will make if they parade as troops.

The office is working out the present list of merit badge counselors for distribution, and also is sending out more notices to men who may serve in this capacity.

A plan to have every troop in New Castle, send a troop messenger to the office each Friday afternoon or Saturday morning for mail or other material for his troop, is being worked out. The leaders went on record as favoring mass camping during the '34 season for troops not especially qualified for troop camping.

Committees were named to handle the fall field meet for the north district, Jack Hainsworth, Harry Miller, and Bob Allen. Dr. Lutz represents scouting on the Armistice Day committees.

The place of the next monthly meeting was named as the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Desertion Charged In Divorce Case

Gertrude H. Ridenbaugh has filed an application at the prothonotary's office for a divorce from her husband, Joseph A. Ridenbaugh, on the grounds of desertion. They were married in July, 1923, and lived together until May, 1931.

All things are relative, but you don't realize how true that is until you hear Queen Mary's new shoe-top skirts called "short".

City Plunged Into Darkness As Electric Wires Are Torn Down

Damage Is Estimated At $10,000,000; Thousands Are Made Homeless

(The following eye-witness account of the Tampico hurricane describes in vivid terms the chaos that gripped the city as a 110-mile an hour wind struck the oil port, twisting houses to the ground and spreading terror through the populace.)

By S. F. MATTOON Eye-Witness of the Tampico Hurricane. (Copyright, 1933, By International News Service.)

TAMPICO, Sept. 28.—When the hurricane hit Tampico Sunday night I was trapped in the Imperial hotel with approximately 200 other persons.

As the velocity of the wind increased to an estimated 110 miles an hour, pieces of houses, signs and glass rained on the hotel in a terrifying manner, breaking windows and causing the entire building to sway.

City In Darkness. Soon entire houses were lifted from their foundations and hurled to destruction, carrying victims with them.

Electric wires were torn asunder, plunging the city into darkness. A flying section of metallic roof came hurtling through the air and completely decapitated an expectant father, who was hurrying to get a doctor for his wife.

A few hours later, at the height of the storm, a child was born to the widow.

Two huge water tanks on the roof of the hotel were lifted into the air and crashed into the street more than a block away. A flying timber came through a hotel window, crossing the room and piercing the door into the hallway.

The top two stories of a building a block away were carried away on the wind, killing at least one of the inmates.

Torrential Rain. A torrential rain continued throughout the duration of the hurricane, causing floods in all parts of the city. Many ships in the harbor were torn from their moorings and buffeted about at the mercy of the gale.

The Ward line steamer Panuco was blown across the river and grounded on the opposite shore of the stream from which it took its name.

The hurricane ceased almost as suddenly as it came upon us, and with the coming of daylight we looked out on a mere skeleton of what was once a city. Thousands were left without homes or shelter, and the city was without electric or water service and its sanitary system was badly impaired.

Under Martial Law. Military authorities took charge, placing the city under martial law. Their task was made more difficult by the rising of the river and the flooding of many sections of the town. Many houses and their inhabitants were swept by the swift current of the river into the ocean. Damage is estimated at more than $10,000,000.

Thousands of refugees are being housed in theatres, public buildings and churches. There is great danger of an epidemic owing to sanitary conditions, which are frightful beyond description.

Provers have been caught looting and were dealt with in summary fashion, being lined up against a wall and shot after conviction by a military court.

Splendid Morale. Many bodies of the dead will never be recovered.

The American vice-consul, R. S. Carey, in behalf of the American colony, is rendering every assistance possible to the local authorities.

Although the suffering and destruction is great the people are exhibiting a splendid morale, largely owing to their faith in the military commander, General Macias.

Boyd Shakes Up Union Gridders

Union High Will Fight Hard For Victory Over Bridgeville High Saturday

GAME WILL BE FIRST AT HOME

In an effort to get Union High school football team started on a victory this season, Coach David Morgan Boyd has shaken up the team somewhat for the game with Bridgeville High at the Union High field Saturday afternoon.

The first two games played by Union High resulted in losses, to Ellwood City and Evans City. With Bridgeville about on a par with Union as to material and enrollment, the Unionites are anxiously awaiting the tussle Saturday.

Few Changes
Coach Boyd has threatened for some time to shake the team up, if they did not snap out of their jinx. It would not be surprising to see a starter this week in place of Morgan, a halfback. A new fullback with Captain Georgacz going back on the line, and possibly a new end. The guards, White and Jones worked fine in the Evans City game. It was the work of this pair that kept Union in the game.

Bridgeville will come here with a team that is not known in New Castle as to strength or past performances. This is the first meeting of the two schools in any kind of athletic endeavor, and Union wants to make a good impression. Todd is improving at quarterback and with more experience is going to make a valuable man. The game Saturday will start at 2:30 o'clock according to Coach David Boyd.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Vincent Richards and Frank Hunter continued their surge yesterday at Rye, N. Y., toward a probable meeting in the national professional tennis championships by scoring third and second round victories. Richards beat Edwin J. Faulkner of St. Drexel Hills, Pa., 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, while his former Davis cup mate, Hunter, downed Allan Behr of Bayside, N. Y., 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Another setback was handed the loquacious gob, Jack Sharkey, last night at Philadelphia. Tommy Loughran having been given the decision before a crowd that didn't pay $25,000 to see them fight. It was a good fight. One of the judges, Al Voisin, gave his decision to Sharkey as did one news association writer. In the last three rounds Sharkey belabored Tommy, who went into a shell and fought the last nine minutes, according to one report, with one idea in mind and that, staying the limit.

Firm Tone Is Shown In Market

Steel Issues Rebound And Show Strength In Morning Trading

MOTOR SHARES GIVE SIMILAR PERFORMANCE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Stocks showed a slightly firmer tone in the morning trading today with trading proceeding at a moderate pace. The upturn, however, was unimpressive and appeared due more to timid short covering rather than to any aggressive long buying.

United States Steel a heavily sold issue in recent sessions rebounded a point. Other steel issues showed a firmer undertone in sympathy. The motor shares gave a similar performance with Chrysler gaining nearly a point while General Motors gained a small fraction. The auto-accessory shares, though, were easy on the strike news.

Utility shares showed a relatively good tone with Consolidated Gas, North American, and United Gas improvement holding slightly above yesterday's close. Railroad shares were firmer on short covering with New York Central rebounding more than 2 points only to run into offerings which cut the initial advance in half. Atchafalaya, Union Pacific, and Southern Railway were quiet.

Liquor shares were dull as were the gold mining shares. The more volatile trading favorites including Allied Chemical, Western Union, and Case were quiet and unimpressive in the market action.

Commodities were easy with wheat off more than a cent a bushel and cotton down about 15 cents a bale.

WEIRTON, W. Va., Sept. 28.—The nation's first major steel strike—that of the Weirton Steel company, subsidiary of National Steel—spread today to the Clarksburg mill of the company and brought a total of 10,000 workers out on "holiday". Pickets claimed 8,000 employees had joined the walkout at the Weirton mills, tying up all operations. One thousand workers—the entire force—was on strike at the Steubenville plant and more than 250 walked out at Clarksburg.

Strikers demand recognition by the company of their affiliation with the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel & Tin Workers, the steel man's union. Weirton Steel has operated without labor troubles for more than a decade under a company union system.

A conference was being arranged between officials of the union and E. T. Weir, president of National Steel, in an effort to effect a settlement. The meeting will be held tomorrow or Saturday. Leaders of the strikers have sent appeals to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asking them to investigate charges of violation of the N.R.A. steel code at the company's mills.

Half a dozen state police were sent to Weirton to augment the force of deputies mobilized by Sheriff J. A. Pope of Hancock county. Deputies and state troops patrolled the streets of Weirton today but no disorders occurred.

No attempt was being made to operate either the Weirton or Steubenville mills today as pickets patrolled the streets in both cities and halted all employees except maintenance crews from entering the plants.

Ellwood And Butler To Meet Saturday

Blue And White To Take Second Trek Away From Home On Saturday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 28.—Ellwood City High will take its second trek away from home on Saturday afternoon when it will journey to Butler for its annual clash with the Helmer men.

The Tubers are out to avenge that 7-0 defeat of last year and have been working with renewed vigor all this week. Coach "Ganz" Benedict and assistant Mike Ferrare have been ironing out some flaws and weaknesses in the eleven apparent in last week's game. They have been grooming Tony Scopelitte in the fullback post to replace Captain Milton Lutzenberg who will be unable to play because of a Jewish holiday. Incidentally this is a repetition of last year.

All week the Ellwoodians have been drilled in the various Butler offensive formations and prepared against an aerial attack for which the Helmer men are famous. A successful scrimmage was held Tuesday against the reserves and second team.

Butler High is once again represented by a strong eleven. With a number of veterans and lettermen back Coach Helmer has presented a formidable club that should give the Ellwood City team a good fight. He has a fairly heavy line and a good veteran speedy backfield.

The two schools have always been evenly matched in the past. Since resuming relations three years ago, Butler has won two games and Ellwood City one. The locals hope to even matters next Saturday.

Croton War Vet Greeted Pal Separated In Battle Overseas 15 Years Ago

When World war buddies get together after an absence of 15 years—well, it's a merry old reunion that results!

And it had been 15 years since John R. Wilson, Dewey avenue post-office employee here, had seen Jack Ferguson, his Michigan war pal, until Ferguson walked in on him unheralded a few days ago.

Wilson last saw Ferguson when he was injured in fierce fighting on June day in 1918, the day they took him to the hospital for a stay of seven months. The end of the war came and still the two knew nothing of the other's whereabouts. Only recently they established contact by mail.

Both served the headquarters company, 12th field artillery, second division, during the war. Ferguson went through every battle without an injury.

A third war crone was a veteran who now lives at Jeffersonville, Ind., and Wilson and Ferguson plan to join him next spring for a reunion trip to Fort Meyer, Va., where the trio trained in the early war days.

Machine Gun Is Being Examined

Will Probe Finding Of Machine Gun In Denver, Believed Used In Kansas Massacre

(International News Service)

DENVER, Sept. 28.—Federal operatives today began an investigation to determine if the submachine gun found in a trunk belonging to Albert Bates, asserted kidnaper of Charles F. Urschel, was the one used in the Kansas City Union depot massacre in which five persons were shot down and killed.

In addition to the machine gun, Bates' luggage revealed a high-powered rifle. Two trunks and two handbags, stored by Bates under the alias "George Davis," were opened on a court order obtained by attorneys for the American Express company.

Val Zimmer, department of justice agent, said his office knew about the trunks being stored in a local warehouse at the time of Bates' arrest here more than a month ago. They left them untouched, he said, as a trap for one of Bates' associates.

All right. Go ahead and inflate. We always wanted to know how a $25 sandwich tastes.

Chester Strikers Storm Edgewater

Mass Meeting Of Employees At Edgewater Assembling Plant Called

(International News Service)

EDGEWATER, N. J., Sept. 28.—Strikers from the Ford Motor company's plant at Chester, Pa., stormed into Edgewater today in 200 Ford cars, determined to bring about a strike of the 2,000 employees there.

The strikers carried banners reading "Ford strikers" and "strike for the code."

They lined up along river edge road, and Chief of Police Frank Joret, of Edgewater rushed 30 policemen and motorcycle cops to the scene.

The visiting strikers got in touch with Michael Guadilla, an employee of the assembling plant, a dissatisfied Ford worker, and he called a mass meeting of the Edgewater employees. Their complaint is similar to that of the Chester employees, that their salaries have been cut from $25 to $16 a week. They assert they are working four eight-hour days for these wages, and they want their time and pay increased.

Chief Joret said the strikers from Chester were in a peaceable mood today and that their leader said they wanted to observe the law in every respect. He told the police General Johnson was in sympathy with them.

Former Chicago Detective Found Guilty By Jury

Harry Lang Faces One Day To Year In Jail For Assault With Weapons

ATTORNEY WILL ASK NEW TRIAL

Conviction Comes As Result Of Shooting Of Frank Nitti

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Convicted in the strange shooting of Frank Nitti, "enforcer" for the Al Capone gang, Detective Sgt. Harry Lang, member of the late Mayor Cermak's personal detail, was at liberty today on bond while attorney, s framed an appeal for a new trial.

A criminal court jury found the suspended detective guilty of assault with a deadly weapon in the Nitti shooting after Lang and a fellow officer gave sensational testimony that Mayor Cermak had learned he was marked for death by a hired killer of the Capone gang. The raid on the downtown offices of "Crime, Inc." in which Nitti was shot three times, was ordered by Mayor Cermak, Lang testified, after the mayor confided that Louis "Little New York" Campagna had been employed to kill him.

Penalty Is Easy
Lang and fellow officers went to the office designated by Mayor Cermak to arrest Campagna under instructions from Cermak, the suspended sergeant testified.

The verdict was a compromise and carries punishment of one day to a year in jail or a fine of $25 to $1,000. Nitti was first brought to trial in the case for shooting Lang in the hand, but on the testimony of Policeman Chris Callahan that the gangster was unarmed and "Lang must have shot himself," Detective Lang was indicted.

Broadcasters To Make Retraction

False Broadcast Of Battle Between Convicts And Officers Given

(International News Service) GARY, Ind., Sept. 28.—Five gibbering broadcasters today were told to retract a full broadcast of last night's thrilling but false broadcast of a fight to death between convicts who escaped the Indiana state prison at Michigan City and authorities.

Calm the reports from the man behind the microphone. "Here we are folks, right on the scene of a gigantic manhunt. The troops are tramping through the field on the trail of the convicts. Listen closely, folks, listen to that deadly patter of lead."

Then sounds of machine gun fire, the barking of rifles and pistols, groans and eerie police sirens. It was a great "story" But authorities wouldn't believe it. Five broadcasters were arrested by police and their apparatus seized, but they were released when an official of the broadcasting company promised Capt. Matt Leach, commander of the Indiana state troopers, that a full retraction of the affair will be broadcast over the station today.

The party of radio broadcasters had set up their apparatus at the edge of a mile square wooded section eight miles south of Chester, Ind. Troopers have been patrolling the district since the prison break.

A short time before the "arrests" a party of troopers happened into a gasoline filling station where a radio was blaring forth the lurid details of the fight between members of their own troop and convicts. The troopers were humorously surprised. Outside an entire district was thrown into a fever of excitement. Anxious wives of policemen called frantically on the telephone to learn if their loved ones had been wounded.

Over the radio came the hysterical voice of a woman. She told of seeing the fugitives flee into the woods. Sheriff William D. Meyer of Cook county heard the broadcast on the automobile radio and immediately ordered highway policemen to guard all roads leading to Chicago in case the felons escaped from the ambush.

President Resting At Hyde Park Home

(International News Service) HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Here in his home for the third time this summer, President Roosevelt rested today, handled routine business and carefully avoided formal appointments. The executive came here to attend the wedding of Miss Alda Robinson and Kenneth Walker on Saturday. Miss Robinson is the daughter of Theodore Robinson, a cousin of the president.

The president's aides keep him informed of developments in Washington by telephone, and he was told the giant banking and credit program he inaugurated before leaving the capital was taking shape. There was a possibility that Mr. Roosevelt would have an important announcement in connection with his finance program while he is up here, but there was no inkling of what it would be, specifically.

Indiana Miners Cause Trouble

Eject All Of Non-Union Miners From Town Of Oakland City, Indiana

(International News Service) OAKLAND CITY, Ind., Sept. 28.—Quiet, broken only by weeping women and children, prevailed here today after a night of rioting during which approximately 150 non-union coal miners were run out of Oakland City by a mob estimated to have numbered 500 men.

The mob broke into homes of the non-union workers, jerked them from their beds, in a number of cases beat them up and ordered them to leave town immediately. The families of the ejected men were to leave today as best they could. Most of the families hailed from Central City, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Patterson, of Newark, N. J., who were enroute to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago by motor, visited some friends in seventh ward and East New Castle Monday of this week.

Town Marshall William Brown sent a call for help to Sheriff George Hitch of Gibson county, who arrived here shortly before midnight and deputized 50 local citizens to patrol the town.

Both the Somerville and the Francisco mines were working today, but with a reduced force. Both mines were protected by strong guards, armed with machine guns.
